Sacrifice

(a Rictameter)

I had sacrificed my passion on the altar
of fidelity, then hormones stole my appetite, leaving me with no libido. My lover ran from mood swings and hot flashes, I faced the change
alone.

F.I. Goldhaber's words capture people, places, and politics with a photographer's eye and a poet's soul. As a reporter, editor, business writer, and marketing communications consultant, they produced news stories, feature articles, editorial columns, and reviews for newspapers, corporations, governments, and non-profits in five states. Now paper, plastic, electronic, and audio magazines, books, newspapers, calendars, broadsides, and street signs display their poetry, fiction, and essays. Left Fork press published What Color is Your Privilege? -- a collection of political statements in poetic form -- in September.
